Alma Mater—Swarthmore

I.

Staunch and gray thou standst before us
On the campus fair;
Thy high spirit guarding o'er us,
Who thy blessings share.
Thee we praise with songs of gladness,
Name thy glories o'er,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail, Swarthmore.

II.

Every stone of Alma Mater
Holds a memory dear,
Every ripple of Crum's waters
Is a greeting clear.
Thee we praise with songs of gladness,
Name thy glories o'er,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail, Swarthmore.

III.

Though we leave thee and though sorrow
Still our laughter gay,
We will tender memories borrow
From the past so gray.
Then you'll hear the old grads singing
As they sang of yore,
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail, Swarthmore.

ELLIOTT, NICHOL PHILA

In Memory of Herschel Corson Ware

Our Friend and Classmate

Millville, New Jersey

1-2-1892—7-23-1912

MARY JENKINS ANDERSEN

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Once there was a dainty maid
We called her Mary A.
Every time there is a rough house
She's in it, so they say.
She's Dr. Goddard's satellite
In English she shines brightly;
And while she raves about Shakespeare
She writes her comp themes nightly.

MARION EMMA BAKER, Π Β Φ

LANSDOWNE, PA.

"Bake" believes that variety is the spice of life. Freshman year, she came as a day student and haunted the 8:26 every morning. Sophomore year she decided that Bill Hause could not complete the year without her constant companionship, so she lived with us on 4th East for the year. This year she does a mixture of both and she is in quandary as to what to try next year.

CONSTANCE LINCOLN BALL, K A Θ

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Sturdy, studious, sensible, Connie's conscience made me join Y. W. C. A. and buy a homely Silver Bay calendar for which I was relieved of one perfectly good bone. She is a worker as well as a talker. We owe part of our success as a class to the start she gave us as our first secretary. She has the awe of the Freshman, the fear of the Sophomores, the love of the Juniors and the respect of the Seniors.

ELLIOT MYER BARNARD, K Σ

WINFIELD, KANS.

"Doc."

You've heard of wind storms? Well, Barnard comes from Kansas, so it must be natural. Anyway, in classes he shows up like an old fashioned stove with his hot air. Louie spends all his time arguing with him. But this is not enough. In his leisure he pulls out an old clarinet and blows out some more. However, he has only been here a short time and undoubtedly he will have abated by next year.

HAROLD CALHOUN BAXTER

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

“Snuff.”

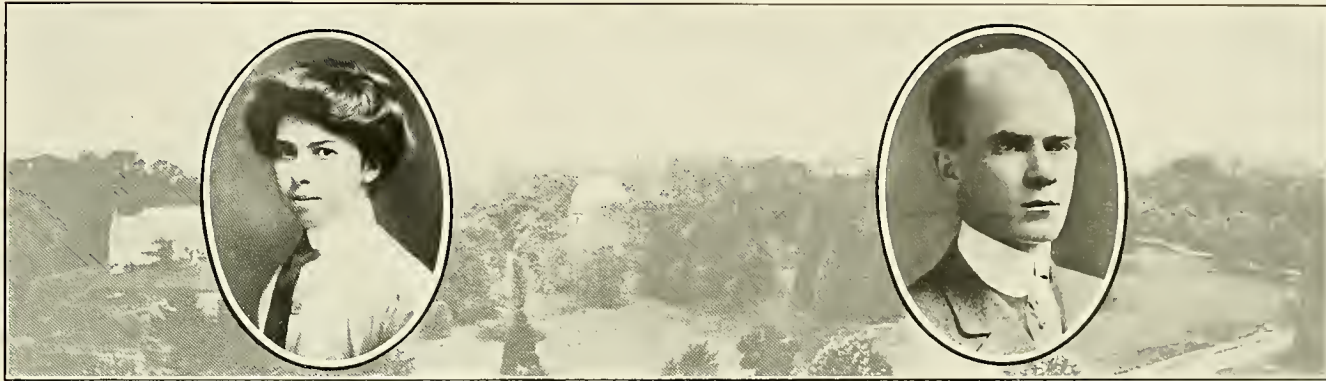

Baxter hasn't seen fit to take up his residence with us as yet—perhaps that is why we don't know more about him. He comes out here at an unearthly hour of the morning, and the best time to observe him is before breakfast when he is to be seen slinking along the Parrish corridors, or annoying the girls above by his attempts at piano playing in the boy's parlor. His worse faults are his attempts at singing.

MARIE SAFFORD BENDER

CAMDEN, N. J.

“Mon Amie.”

A whistle, or a giggle, and we see Marie coming out of the Math Library. Some people are cheerful sometimes, some at no time, and few all the time. Marie is one of these few. She is the true representative of the all around college girl with her many different, but no indifferent capacities. The question is—What is her major, Mathematics or fussing?

EDITH SHARPLESS BLACKBURN

BALTIMORE, MD.

"Deets."

Edith has a genuine southern drawl. She once said: "Swa-a-a-thmo-o-ore is a tawn-n-n," and we think those who heard her say it will never forget it. She is good natured, kind, sympathetic and ready for anything, work or recreation, even including a song fest. This write-up is short but it will take "Deets" ten minutes to read it —out loud.

JASON ALBERT BLACKBURN

CESSNA, PA.

"Baldy."

Blackie entered our class last fall and is fast making good. His most noticeable feature is the crop of hair that surmounts his French phiz. His fiery brain has given out so many hot thoughts that it has scorched the sparse remaining hair a fiery red. But cheer up Baldy. We've never seen a red headed man down on his luck; nor a bald headed man in the insane asylum.

PAUL J. N. BLESSING
CARROLLTON, KY.

"Violet" is another new recruit in our ranks. He is a quiet fellow, like all the fellows from Kentucky. He inherits a great ability with the integrals from his brother, and is the math shark of Old Wharton. He can also rip off the high brow harmony on the music box. His favorite vocation is to lean back on the cool end of a Pall Mall.

WM. HARVEY GIBSON BRADFIELD, $\kappa \Sigma$
BARNESVILLE, OHIO.
"Gib."

Whenever you hear the click of a camera, turn and you will surely see Brad, camera fiend and official photographer of this book. From a slight observation of his massive brow you will notice that he is somewhat of a math wonder. Indeed, when "Prof." gets one beyond him, Gib always sits up from his extended position long enough to set him right before he again resumes his customary attitude of indifference. Gib is a kind of hat rack for honors. He has been president of the Math Club, librarian of the Eunomian, president of the Ohio Club, and vice president of the class. He may yet be elected to the student exec.

HARPER VAUGHN BRESSLER

TOWER CITY, PA.

"Harp," and "Bress."

Bressler believes in looking on the sunny side of life—he always wears the smile that won't come off. He isn't very big and he doesn't advertise himself very largely, so we are afraid he will never become president. His principle occupation is pounding typewriter keys, which makes him the dire enemy of all his fellow hall mates. He thought he could get along without Swarthmore, but he couldn't; he had to come back. He's with a much better bunch now than he was before.

ROBERT STANTON BROWNING, Δ Y

BROOKLYN, N. Y.

Time—7:15 A. M.

Place—Bed.

A big boy rests calmly beneath the quilts. The following monologue takes place as the first bell ting-a-lings: "Um-m-m—Wass the time? Quarter after yet? Uh? Aw, I'm not going to get up. (Pause.) Wass the time? (Silence for a couple of moments). If I cud only sleep. Yumm! Wass the time? Close the window will yuh?"

Presto, and Bobby's out of bed.

Curtain (Please ! !)

HOWARD MAHLON BUCKMAN

TRENTON, N. J.

"Buck" is a distinguished gentleman in more ways than one. He is distinguished in that he can crack more bum jokes in a given time than any other man in college; in that he never fusses; in that he handles barrels of money, but doesn't own any of it. He is a distinguished satellite of Dr. Battin, and he wears that lacrosse sweater with a distinction that is positively overbearing. Yet with all this he is as modest as Diana and as callous toward the fair sex as a stone post. If you ever find him voluntarily seeking the company of a young woman, please notify the editors and receive reward.

ALICE LUCIE BUCHER

WILMINGTON, DEL.

"Dickey."

"Say, where's Dickey? I never can find that woman."

Who would ever think of calling her any thing else? Why, last year a freshman, when asked if Alice Bucher was on Fourth said: "No, but there's a Dickey Bucher on that floor."

She has been known to be in the wildest rough house one minute and the next, to straighten her hair and walk in a very dignified manner down to Exec. meeting. What if she does take frequent Sunday trips?—she's a world beater when it comes to getting off work.

RAYMOND TAYLOR BYE
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Mr. Chairman, Honorable Judges, Worthy Opponents, Ladies and Gentlemen:—My colleague has told you that we have several debaters in our class. I will endeavor to prove to you that I am one of them. In the first place I have almost succeeded in arguing everybody in the Halcyon meeting into my way of thinking. Secondly, any time you come into my room in New Wharton I will be glad to convince you that Esperanto is the coming tongue, and to enroll you into my promising class which I teach every other night. Thirdly, I will expound to you the beauties of Gnani Yoga in so far as they would be comprehensible to one on the lower level of the fifth cosmic plane. In the realm of psychic phenomena, I—Oh time up? Thank you, gentlemen.

MARJORIE TATNALL CALDWELL, K A ©
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

“Marj” is an uncanny kid! Ask her what color the ocean is: “Squee! It’s purple, silly!” Watch her on the hockey field—three more minutes to play, ball near the goal, everybody excited, all intense—except one—yes—one slim girl with a long yellow braid stands motionless—in rapture over a small cloud in the sky, and murmurs to herself “AAMIPOX.”

WHARTON BARKER CARROLL

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

“Bum.”

I don't know what's the matter with us out here, but Wharton won't come out and live with us. Maybe bad as we are, we are not wild enough. We have discovered he's a home rule Irishman, and has helped dynamite several officials in different parts of the world. As far as poor Swarthmore goes though, he is very docile, and you may see him any time in the students room beneath the shade of the piano “doin' calculus.”

LUCY MERRITT CARVIN

WILMINGTON, DEL.

Lucy—“Ah, but osten-n-tation is——”

Dr. Goddard—“Ah yes, Miss Carvin, but wait a minute” —(to himself) “wish she would give me a chance.”

Lucy would make two of Dr. Goddard but Doc isn't afraid of her—once in a while in class he actually does interrupt her. When he doesn't the rest of us just sit and yawn. But when exam time comes we look with envy on the exemptions.

EDWARD LEONARD CAUM

HONOLULU, HAWAII.

Phylum—Vertebrata.

Class—Reptilia.

Order—No order, (see Wharton E-1-4).

Genus—Frigidus.

Species—Amantatia.

Habitat—Biology Lab.

Remarks—Sluggish at ordinary temperatures, becoming dormant at 50° F. and below. Shy but extremely faithful, once tamed.

LOUISE KNICKERBOCKER CLEMENT

OAK SUMMIT, N. Y.

Louise is such a tiny specimen that the editors couldn't really do her justice. We accordingly turn her over to the biological department where she was mounted on a slide and examined with a high power microscope. This examination revealed her to be a perfectly normal specimen of the genus homo, only somewhat abbreviated in size. She is well known as a terpsichorean artist, having won immortal fame in her first appearance with Shorty and Co., at the first junior dance.

MARY WALTON COLES

MOORESTOWN, N. J.

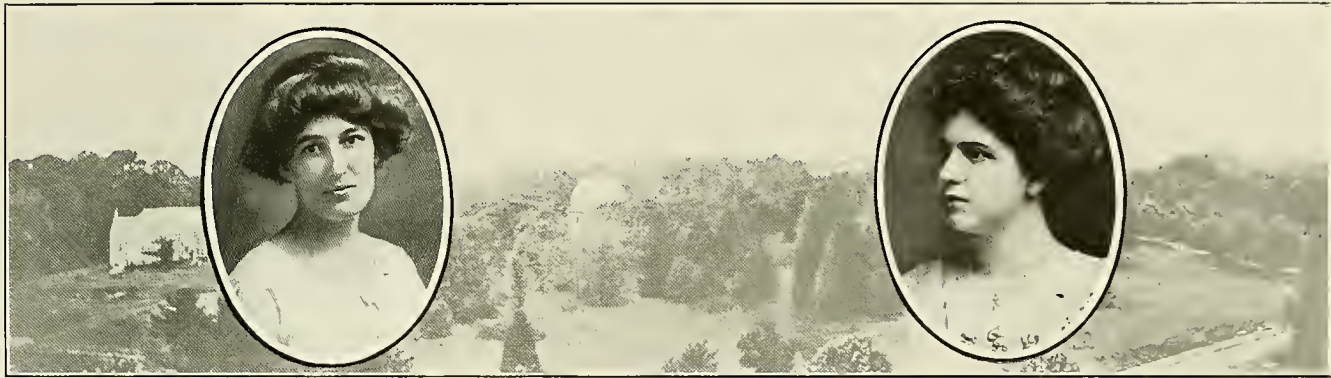

"Still waters run deep," they say, especially when there are "Wells" at the bottom. This quite little girl causes her class mates and friends very much anxiety because she with her room mate, Lela, dips too constantly and too deeply into the art of mid-night grinding. She also likes Longfellow's "Village Smithy."

WALTER ALOYSIUS COOGAN, K Σ

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Irish."

Walt Coogan is a gay young lad,
Sing glory hallelujah.
His heart is good, but his blood is bad;
Sing glory hallelujah.
In basketball he shines with ease,
Between the game he makes up D's
And when he gets a few low C's—
Sings "GLORY HALLELUJAH."

BRETTA VIOLA CRAPSTER, K A ©

WINFIELD, KAN.

"Who is the public speaker of 1914?"

Why don't you know? She is a little brunette from Kansas, with eyes all a sparkle, an attractive drawl all her own, a walk all her own, a way all her own—in fact she is just Brettia.

KATHARINE MARY DENWORTH

THELMA, VA.

We won her from the sophs,
This brilliant able lass;
She studied hard and crammed
And now she's in our class.
'Tis wisdom long drawn out
When Katharine makes a speech,
'Tis excellent and good
But the end beyond our reach.

LeROY DURBOROW, $\Phi \Sigma \kappa$
OXFORD, PA.

"Durb" isn't exactly what you would call one of the intellectual lights of our class; but he has plenty of redeeming features. For instance, while our dome-headed classmates are straining their brains over Halcyon write-ups, Durb is making valuable use of his time in the front parlor. He is also some athlete. In the fall, he shines on the gridiron—with Doc Hull's consent. His favorite winter sport is penny ante. In the spring you may see him limbering up his arm and getting his eye on the ball, so as to lead his bush league team to victory in the summer—Ladies, our first class president—LeRoy Durborow.

WALTER HAROLD EAGAN, $\Phi \Gamma \Delta$
WASHINGTON, D. C.

"Chick" is a delegate to Swarthmore from Cornell and is proud of it. One of his chief characteristics is the ease obtained by him both from his room and in the class room. Chick claims that he is an anti-suffragist, a non-anti-suffragist and a nonenity in general so far as the floss are concerned. It is true he is usually flirting with a Fatima on Thursday night when the Dean's Tea comes off, but we question the decision on Saturday nights when he and Wash hold their little meetings.

DOROTHEA FITCH, Κ Κ Γ
FLUSHING, N. Y.

"Dos."

"Well I could roar—ah, my dear, whom are you going to the P. S. K. dance with? Oh yes, I'm going (rolling her eyes mysteriously). How could you guess?"—and after making an imaginary thrust at you she passes on down the hall, shrugging her shoulders and wondering what kind of an excuse she can give next week to get out of hockey. Her ability in this line is a marvel to every girl in college.

AUBREY EDWARD FOX, Κ Σ CADIZ, OHIO.

"Foxye" is our champion cross country runner and stake driver. He is equally handy at winning cups and getting up the Chautauqua tent with only three men. Everybody likes him. Even Miss Gorham can't bring herself to let him go.

WARREN EARLE GATCHELL, $\Phi \Sigma \kappa$
RUTLEDGE, PA.

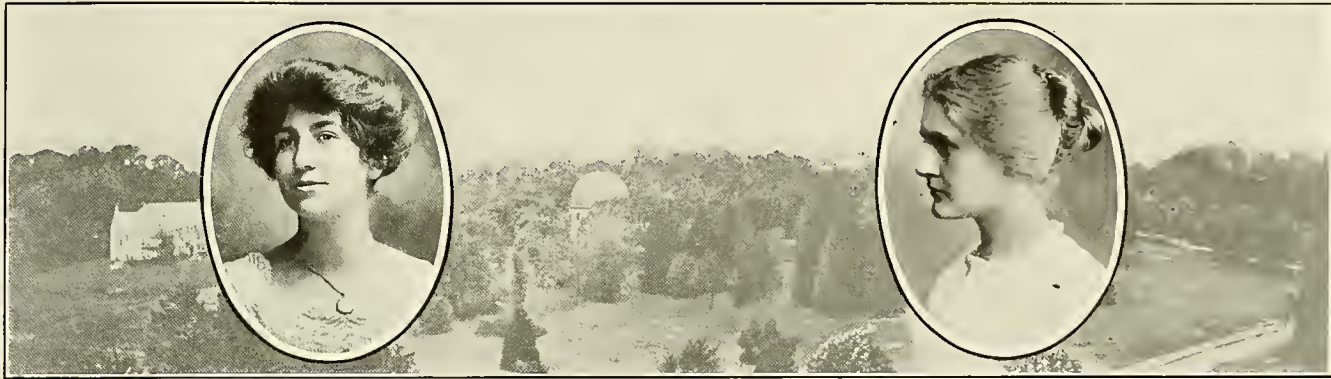

"Whom did you draw for the dance, Gatch?" "Oh kid, some class, but never mind, you'll see."

"Benny was asking where you were Wednesday."

"That so? Guess I'll have to visit the class again, so you won't get lonesome. Say, when you get ready to bone that Dutch, yell for me, will you? Benny will catch me yet. So long."

BLANCHE GERHART
QUAKERTOWN, PA.

Blanche is always jolly. In fact she is the kind of girl that is good natured at the breakfast table during exam week. We could be cheerful too if we got exempted from math. Second only to her ability in this line, she can make awful good sandwiches. Why don't you apply for a Carnegie Life Saving Medal, Blanche?

MARJORIE MALVINE R. GIDEON, K A ©
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

We hear a low ripple of laughter outside the room, and we know that it is Marj Gideon, our class society girl. A minute later she comes into the room all smiles and dimples, with her eyes just sparkling. "Hello, everybody. Yes, I've just been home, but I had to come back to finish some work." We all know how much work Marj will accomplish with one boy waiting for her at the Post Office and another at the door.

DOROTHEA GILLETTE
SWARTHMORE, PA.

Nature has made her a blond, so that she may be a light to her own path in the darkness of the early winter mornings, through which she has to work her way coming to classes. As far as we can analyze her psychology, she is born to fame as a literateur and philosopher. To substantiate this just talk to her five minutes, or take a comp course with her.

MEYER WILLIAMS GINSBURG

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Ladies and gentlemen, allow us to present Meyer Williams Ginsburg, our boy hero. Inspired by visions of a Carnegie medal, Ginsky rushed into the fiery flaming furnace and did the Aeneas-Anchises stunt with somebody's cook. In view of the fame acquired by this heroic exploit, Ginsky decided on a political career and, leaving the H^S sanctum, he took up Political Science. Since the mid semesters he has changed again and is now going into professional basketball in the Chester Church League.

FRANK WEEDER GITHENS

MILLVILLE, N. J.

A man of much exercise; at least he has the slim results of over much exercise. A good fellow—and incidentally a dashing waitress. He carries about with him the green character of the ocean waves, derived from lingering over a seaside soda water booth—the result of his business partnership in summer with Horace. Frank is the shadow of Horace, Horace the shadow of Frank. Without one you haven't the other, without the other you haven't the one.

JOHN HORACE GITHENS

MILLVILLE, N. J.

"Gith"

Of the firm of Githens Bros. No stiff proposition is Horace. You know and I know that Horace will make a hit wherever he goes and make a score after his hit, too. We know he can make a mark even in granite, for Miss Gorham assures us he still has his niche in her heart. The chief side to Horace's character is its good nature, in order to preserve which he refuses to discuss anything deeper than current baseball problems, or to debate the advantages of the Bunny Hug over the Tango.

MAY THORNTON HAINES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.

"Oh people, this trig will be the death of me yet. I worked just hours on it, and don't get anywhere. I know I'll flunk it, and if I do, I'll die. I'm just worried sick."

May starts over for the Trig exam, imploring everybody she meets to pray for her. A couple of days later you meet her coming from the observatory with a broad smile, and you know that she has gotten another B in "that Trig."

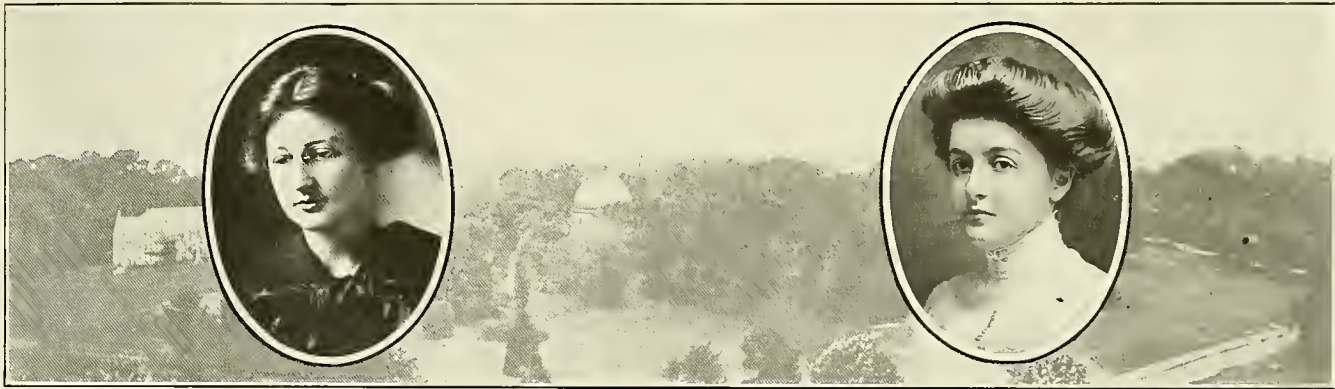

MARION LLOYD HALLOWELL, Π Β Φ

Danger!

Her laugh is dangerous; explodes violently and frequently.
Her eyes are dangerous; turn on you unexpectedly.
Her talk is dangerous; may trip you up.
Her manner is dangerous; affects the heart.
STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! It will pay.

RUSSELL HARRISON HALTOM, Κ Σ WORTHINGTON, IND.

Russ is a Hoosier; you would never guess it though by looking at him. He is funny, so funny that you have to laugh at him. If any one wants to spill soup down any one's neck, Russ presents himself as the victim—and everybody laughs. If at the training table, peculiar concoctions are brewed, Russ is the taster—and everybody laughs. If at the Math Club some one promiscuously throws cube roots and radicals, Russ always manages to get hit—and every one laughs. Yes, Russ is a funny guy. We all have to laugh. Yet we all laugh with him.

EDITH ROBERTS HARPER
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

First you meet her in class, as a fresh air fiend; everybody else is freezing when Edith rushes into the room, rips off her sweater, flies to the window, opens it, and drawing in a long breath says: "Isn't it grand."

In the afternoon it is athletics, for she tries them all. In fact she is so fond of the gym that she puts in extra time practicing on the piano.

You have probably seen them at the tea room for supper. He comes out on the 6:08 twice a week, and they spend the evening in Somerville parlor.

This is the order of her "Day."

KATHARINE FAITH HERRMANN, Δ Γ

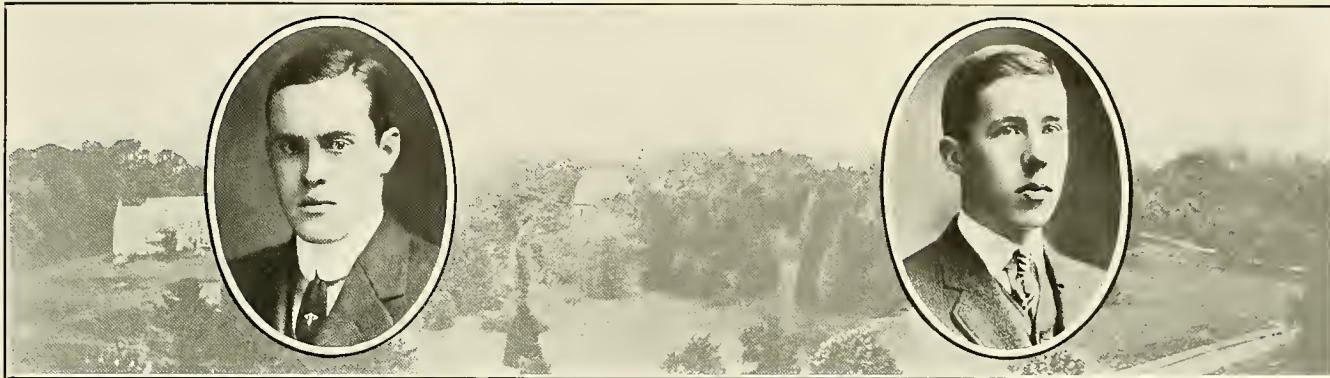

KENSINGTON, MD.

Katherine was in quite a state of excitement the day of matriculation. When told that she had to write poetry for her English course, Katharine characteristically said: "Oh! I say—you don't mean that I have to do that! Why, I can't get through. I can't! You know I can't you—ah self. Oh, I just simply can't," and she immediately went into spasms over the course. She declared that she wouldn't even get a D in it, and as usual made an A.

Charlie is the original slang shooter from the little burg on the Delaware. He loves to sling out the rough stuff that makes the classy clucks at the festive board crack their maps, and forces the hash-rushers in the grub sanctum to drop their burnt offerings. There are many of us who scarcely know Ethel, since we see her only in classes. We are surprised to learn that she is a history major, because we think of her as one of Dr. Goddard's devotees, enjoying the privileges of all his special courses. Judging from her enthusiasm and knowing that she is a member of the West Chester Library Board, we believe that institution must be well supplied with the works of Wells, Shaw and James.

MARGARET KERR

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Marg" is especially strong in athletics. She has carried off the cup for the singles as well as that for the doubles in the tennis tournament. In addition to this she is splendid in hockey and basketball; and wherever the fight is thickest you are sure to see her black and white checkered cap in the midst of the fray. And what is still more, her skill in gym work is a revelation, not only to the Freshman but also to most Seniors.

VICTORIA CLOTHIER LESLEY, K K Γ

Vic Lesley is a comely lass!
It grieves us greatly to relate
We see her seldom but in class
To which she as a rule is late.

We are sorry that we don't see more of Vic, but we realize that such a popular young lady has many social duties at home as well as at college.

RALPH LINTON

MOORESTOWN, N. J.

Ralph is, to say the least, an interesting sort of a fellow. Just consider his make-up: a brilliant, dazzling-hued crown, a big loose jointed body, supported on a most generously broad base, a long easy lope, a brain full of wit as fiery as his hair, and ideas as wild as an inhabitant of Borneo, and there you have him. His principle occupation consists in telling stories, taking solitary (?) walks of a mere twenty miles or so, and trying to corner extra credits. A queer mixture you say? Ah! but if the articles he has written for this Haleyon did but bear his name, you would say that he was one of the greatest genuises we have in our class.

EDWIN ADAMS LUCAS, K Σ
ELGIN, ILL.

Do you remember how Ed. led our class so admirably during the first semester of our Sophomore year? Especially when he managed to break up the Freshman flash light, one man against 1915, his personal bearing as well as his words, were so impressive that we feel sure they will long be remembered. Ed.'s motto is evidently "the end justifies the means." This particular event has made him famous, enabling him to qualify and become manager of this book, among other things. He is the main stock holder of the honor trust, having had everything in college except the ice committee.

EMMA DALLAS LUNGREN

SWARTHMORE, PA.

Every Saturday night Emma comes up to college to go to the dance, but chiefly to be here in the morning for Duckie's class. She has given her definition of God as "the creative power and upward pull in man" which coinciding with Duckie's idea, has made them fast friends. Do you remember the night, Emma, that you came up to be at college in the morning for Duckie's class—when your head ached so that you couldn't go to the dance—and then Dr. Hull had the class after all? We hope at any rate that you will not show this sentence to the English Profs.

LELA ALICE LYNAM

NEWPORT, DEL.

Study, study, study, and then some. The monotony of all this grinding is broken only by her very frequent trips to the swimming pool (her wife says she can swim now), and her entertainment of a few select friends when those wonderful eats come from home.

NORMAN LEROY MacKISSICK, Φ Κ Ψ

WEST CHESTER, PA.

We have a number of "Mac's" in our class; here's one of the best looking. The girls just love Mac; and—its not a case of Canadian reciprocity. You wouldn't suspect it, but he is made of India rubber and he is a most intangible creature. Ask some of our football opponents about it. He can find a hole in a solid mass of husky men, and when they come to grasp him—he simply dissolves in their hands and doesn't reappear until back of the goal line. We don't know just how many girls he has, but we suspect that in his football patois, there are just about "seex."

WILLIAM CHRISTIE MacLEOD

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Alias "Didees," "Mac," "Religion."

This world of ours is punk, rotten to the core! Its got to be reformed, revolutionized and Mac is the man that is to do most of the work. True, his plans are as yet a trifle vague, ethereal, and varied, but then, once you hear his fiery eloquence, how could you doubt his ability to finally carry out the project? What matters it if his ideas on religion change once a week, or if he can not carry on a sane conversation for more than five minutes at a stretch? He is going to be a great man, and we know it. If you don't believe it, read his poetry in the Halcyon.

JAMES BERNARD McGOVERN

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

Jim is the biggest thing in our class, and his only rival in college, now that Beef and Susan are gone, is Slim Jim White. However, he is able to use his 230 pounds to the best advantage on the athletic field. He has been in every minute of football, and is captain of the lacrosse team. Shining on the waxen floor of the gymnasium (with a basketball instead of a girl), is another one of his specialties. And as a math shark he is some savoid.

Oh! that piercing whistle? That is the inimicable Marr-Speakman call. We used to wonder why Martha and Margaret had such a noisy shriek for this purpose. Now we realize that it is the only thing either could ever hear above the racket she is making.

his record in both football and track will testify.

For she likes Dotty better than the rest.
And when she dines, she always dines with Dotty
For she enjoys her company.
And when she sleeps; and when she sleeps;
She always dreams of her Dotty.

WALTER HARRISON MOHR
CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Walt believes that four hours sleep is the maximum amount compatible with health. The users of "The Owl," as they wend their weary way bedward, drop in to find him just beginning his English; and Barton has a pleasant little chat with him when he comes back from the second watch in the observatory. He has even proved his indifference to the subtle attacks of Morpheus by majoring in history. He maintains that he is not of a sleepy disposition, and that he is going to cut loose next year and show us.

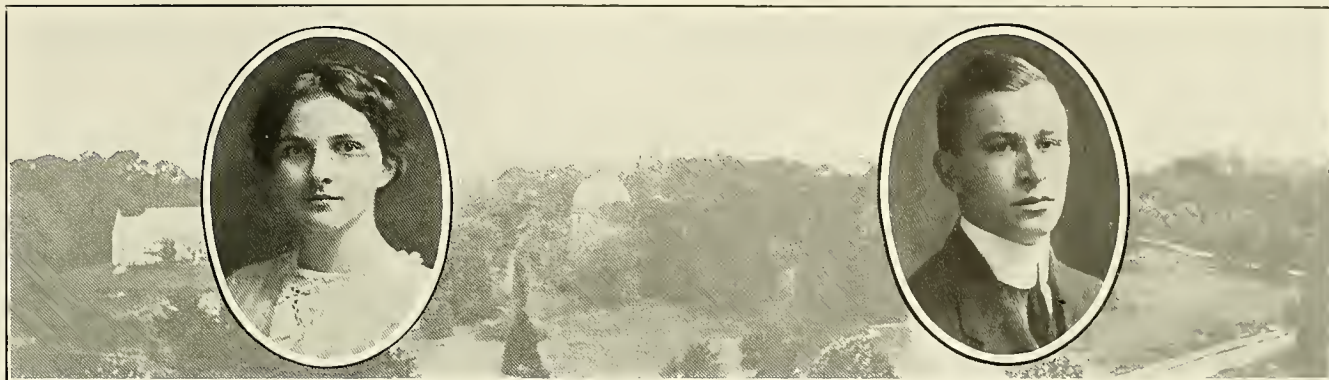

ELIZABETH DEITZ MORTON, Δ Γ
PALMYRA, N. J.

Betty Morton is a general favorite, not because she is pretty (for she surely is that no one can deny it), but just because she is so very lovable. She is in reality "a strong woman," but not the objectionable kind. You would never realize it unless you heard of the various responsible positions which she holds around college.

Behind that quiet, unassuming appearance is hidden a great store house of knowledge.

ALBERT ROY OGDEN, ΔΥ

SCHWENKVILLE, PA.

Roy deserves more space than some of the rest of us because he's used to it. Most of us have learned to get out of his way when he's coming, whether it be in class-work, in public speaking or elsewhere. He has never been known to do any work; yet there are few people who suspect it. That's because he can put up such a wonderful bluff. Go up to Collection any time there is a contest in debate or oratory and see if this is not so. He can say nothing with such absolute conviction that he carries the judges away. He's bright too; that's why he's Associate Editor of the Halcyon.

ROGER BACON OWINGS, T A O
SIMPSONVILLE, MD.

"Roge" surely has the college record for fussing. Why in one week end alone, he took one girl to the theater Saturday afternoon, another to a dance that night, a third walking Sunday morning, a fourth, ditto in the afternoon, and a fifth—all different—campus strolling during social hour. Even with this strenuous fussing he finds time to hold down his position on the Varsity lacrosse team and his job as head artist of the Halcyon.

When we get a grouch from the Friday pork and beans, we always go to Posty, who cheers up both our spirits and our appetites.

MARION ANNIE PRAED

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Here is a real student. She came to college to learn all that she could and you have only to see her marks to find out that she has succeeded. To look at her you might think that she is about to weep, but that is only the result of the fact that in spite of all her A's and B's she is always "scared green" that she will flunk all her courses.

GRACE MAY PRICKETT

SWARTHMORE, PA.

Grace once saw fit to attempt to sever her dear connections with the class of 1914, and to take a rest of half a year. But the ties were too great and she had to return once more to grace the English department's room with her presence. Being a day student she has an opportunity of study that we poor mortals lose—the time consumed in climbing up the hill twice a day. But when we think of her major subject we know that she must prefer climbing down the hill to climbing up it.

"Bugs."

If ever on a foggy night you are coming up the Asphaltum, and there suddenly looms up before you a figure in a heavy coat and a monk hat, walking as if on a plowed field, you may know that it is Bugs. On coming nearer you will hear him singing. He carries a great voice and even he admits it. As he recognizes you, he tugs at his hat, and, Oh horrors! he is bald. But not really bald. Jack merely got caught by the Devils at their feed last year and they cut off his beautiful pompadour into a tonsure. Of course it had to be shaved, for Jack could not appear in "New Yawk" society with "haiah" like a "do-ah mat." To show people that his hirsute propensities are still efficacious, Bugs is spending his spare time in a vain endeavor to rear a mustache.

Although she majors in History, her friends declare she is far more interested in Biology and the knowledge she has gained concerning "bugs" is unparalleled.

MARY CARTER ROBERTS

Beware of Mary. She is very deceiving. To see her eyes once, you would want to make her acquaintance immediately, but unless you are prepared to talk about extracting the n th root of infinity or some other dark and occult process of mathematics, you had better let her alone. If you look closely at the picture you will notice a subtle glow around her head. No that's not a halo. It's brightness.

"Jake" is a diplomatic track man. He goes out to prep school banquets before cross country runs and is located after the race, sitting sublimely on the top most rail of a fence, two miles from the finish. He has a peculiar habit of mopping up everything in preliminaries, and forgetting to start in the finals. However, if he continues conscientiously to press the cinder path, he may yet get his S. OLIVER DAY SHEPARD, Δ Υ MONTCLAIR, N. J.

Shep entered our beautiful college in the dreamy Freshman days of our youth with "Love is better than fame," as a motto. Suffice it to say that O. D. has lived up to his motto in all cases. He plays quarterback at the Dean's Tea and is one of the class draggers at the Saturday night dances. Once a year he resurrects himself, forsakes Lady Nicotine, Fatima and the other femmes and, clad in that sad sweet smile, comes out on the lacrosse field to bring glory to Mount Washington and the Garnet.

CAROLINE SHOEMAKER, Π Β Φ CHEYNEY, PA.

We haven't seen very much of Caddy this year because the nurses and doctors have demanded the greater amount of her time; but Caddy is the same to-day as she was the day she entered College—just as willing and enthusiastic about working on anything as she was to run through mud and puddles to get to the Freshman feed. And just what was she like then?—Well, she was small, quick, and gave you the impression of a little sprite, as we saw her in the Sophomore show. She would come in a minute, leave a few words which would prove to be very witty and in a minute she would be gone.

RACHEL COMLY SHOEMAKER, Κ Κ Γ
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Rachel is pretty, graceful, rather slight and entirely feminine—in fact, she is the kind of girl that people just can't help saying nice things about. And when you give her a T. L. and she says, "Oh, go on!" is she really incredulous and unconscious of her charms—or merely modest? She likes everybody and everything on earth—except Spearmint.

CLAUDE CORALL SMITH
FARMERSBURG, IND.

Smith is a man with a purpose. He believes that:

- A. The chief use of college is to get education, for
 1. Education is necessary to become a lawyer.
 2. To become a lawyer is the quickest way to enter politics.
 3. There is more need for an honest man in politics than anywhere else.

We wish him luck.

WILLIAM CGLESBY SOYARS, Φ Κ Ψ
HOPKINSVILLE, KY.

Alias "Bill," "Tuck," and a score of others.

There you see the most noble editor of our Halcyon. He is the greatest combination of the age, ten shows in one, and all free! He can fuss, he can write, he plays at football, at oratory, at debating, at lacrosse, at politics and at everything. Among the things around here that he would like to run are: The class, the faculty, the athletics, the dining room, the literary society, the Y. M. C. A., the biological department, the Phoenix, the Board of Managers and a few other things. And talk!!! Ah, there he is in his element. He can put forth more words (big ones), at a faster rate, with more enthusiasm, with more faces and with less meaning, than anyone else in college. Yes, we are proud of our Editor-in-Chief. He is a man of accomplishments. If you don't believe it—ask him.

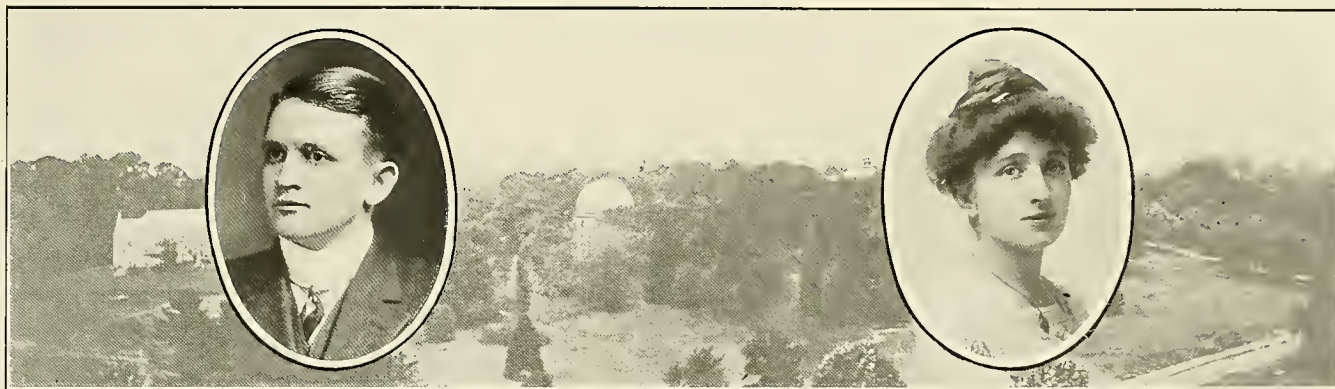

ANNA MARGUERITE SPACKMAN, Π Β Φ
COATESVILLE, PA.

Nance is one of the nicest girls of our class. She is a tall, slender person with a frequent and radiant smile. She is an experienced handler of mere man, and altogether, she does not look as if she were a member of Exec. But she is, and that means that she has popularity, brains and a conscience.

MARTHA TRAVILLA SPEAKMAN, Κ Α Θ
SWARTHMORE, PA.

That noise? Don't be frightened. We know it sounds like a locomotive, but it is only Martha whistling softly for Margaret Marr. Not being able to find Margaret, Martha goes up to the first small group that she sees in the hall—"Oh, people, you just have to come over to 'my' room. I have been over to Mother's this morning for breakfast, and brought some eats back with me, lifted some change and just naturally sacked the house."

ALBERT ROBERT STRANG, κ Σ

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J.

"Shorty."

His Mother calls him "Albert"
His Father calls him "Al"
The table calls him "Sunbeam"
But its "Shorty" with a pal.

No harmony group is complete without Shorty, and when they hear his clear tenor in "Mandy Lee" and "Tell Me Why," the girls all whisper "Kappy Sigs."

MIRIAM HELEN VAN HORN

PLAINFIELD, N. J.

Freshman Year—a quiet, demure, little maid who talked of nothing but Plainfield High School, and was known to few of us.

Sophomore Year—Awakening, happy in Edith's companionship and known to more of us.

Junior Year—A radiant, flossy creature with much biological knowledge and loved by all of us.

Senior Year—Pythia to the front.

MILDRED STORM WARNER

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Mids" is one of the most popular girls in our class. She is not only popular with the girls—as her club affiliations and many pals will testify—but her regular attendance at all dances, week ends, theater parties and "room parties" are a proof of her popularity with the boys. She is in constant demand as a bridesmaid at all the weddings in the city, and uses up half a dozen trip tickets annually in this capacity alone. But with all her popularity, she finds time to write a few volumes of the Halcyon, knock a few A's in Zoo Lab, and write up the minutes of the last class meeting.

Page Ninety

CHARLES JACKSON WATERS, Δ Y

MT. WASHINGTON, MD.

Allow us to present to you C. Jack Waters, the infant prodigy of our class. Jack has a most desirable propensity of fitting in wherever he is put. On the athletic field he is a steady, sure scorer; in the classes he is one of the few who keep the professors from going insane, and in the class meetings—well, he's the president. And when it comes to hustling Hayeyon ads, he is invaluable. With all his virtues, he has one fault. He gets marked absent from collection too much—he comes regularly, but it's a case of "in the right row, but the wrong seat."

VERNA MARTHA WAY

PORT MATILDA, PA.

Verna comes from the wild and woolly secluded parts of Pennsylvania, stranded a hundred miles from nowhere. Perhaps that's why she has a mind so simple. Its a wonderful mind. You couldn't penetrate it with the most obvious kind of a joke; no, not even if you labeled it. Yet she manages to get some information into it somehow. She has faith in mankind, too; she will swallow the wildest kind of a tale with perfect belief. She isn't much of a dasher, and you would hardly suspect her of heavy fussing, but you are wrong. She's got one.

MABEL AMELIA WERNER

WILMINGTON, DEL.

Mix together a good supply of logical intellect and musical ability; stir in slowly a large quantity of spontaneous kindness, mixed with loyalty; flavor with cheerfulness—and beat if you can.

EDITH ROBERTS WILLIAMS
NORRISTOWN, PA.

'Tis not to make her vain to say she is brilliant, sings well and stars in all athletics. As we prove the rule by its exception, so we prove Edith's character with one exception. She excels in everything, from zoology down to sandwich-making. We find but one flaw. Her vulnerable point is chemistry.

FLORENCE RUTH WILSON
CHESTER, PA.

The only time we ever see anything of Florence around college is when she is signing up on the day student's bulletin board. She has too much to occupy her mind in Chester to let her get acquainted here. But then, she made us promise not to say anything about him—so we won't.

GERTRUDE KING WOOD, Κ Κ Γ

TRENTON, N. J.

Yes, there are two Gertrude Woods in the college, but there is only one "Trudie," and she, we are rejoiced to say belongs to 1914. "Trudie" is best known and is most famous for her smile and her disposition, neither of which are shown here. Photographers are so very unaccommodating.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER WORTH, Φ Κ Ψ

COATESVILLE, PA.

If in coming through Parrish you hear a soft, delicate, highly cultured noise, with all the r's dropped, issuing gently from the Eunoian room, you may know that it is Billy Worth. We don't know how he does it, but it certainly is captivating—at least, it has succeeded in capturing one at any rate. Bill has all the accoutrements that by nature belong to a voice like his—a healthy love of ease, a distinguished bearing, a well developed brain, a job on the Halcyon staff, a football managership, a thorough acquaintance with the fair sex, and is a pretty "worthy" fellow generally.

EDITH KISSAM YOUNG

MORTON, PA.

Mellifluous, subtle, forwarded by a sense of the tragic and sublime—is Edith's narrative; and as for her drama—well, you should have seen "The Silver Watch." She is the third member of the Gillette-Garwood-Young crowd. Any day she may be seen wondering down the Asphaltum, wrangling in lofty glee with the other two, over some detail in an analysis of Shaw—or Dumas, or some recent books of Wells—or anything nobody else knows anything about.

Western Swarthmore Club

The Western Swarthmore Club originated in December, 1903, when at an informal dinner about a dozen Swarthmoreans met and organized the Chicago Swarthmore Club. The Chicago Club met for a year or so at irregular intervals, and having elected Francis E. Broomell to the Secretary and Treasurership, decided to widen its field and offer an annual free scholarship, consisting of board, room and tuition. The Club was then called the Western Swarthmore Club, and its membership increased to upward of sixty graduates in the West. The scholarship is open for competition to all high and preparatory school graduates west of the Allegheny Mountains, and the Club has sent seven students through the freshman year, and has been the means of inducing more than twice that number to choose Swarthmore. In this way all the principal high schools in the Middle West hear of Swarthmore every year, and the scholars carry her good name wherever they go. The Western Swarthmore Club has thus proved Swarthmore spirit not by words but by deeds.

Trenton Swarthmore Club

The Trenton Swarthmore Club is an organization of five Swarthmore men located in Trenton, N. J., formed primarily for the purpose of furnishing a scholarship in Swarthmore College to the preparatory schools in Trenton and vicinity.

The organization offers yearly a full, free, competitive, honor scholarship of $400.00, which is awarded to the most worthy male applicant from the neighboring territory, which includes seven of the most prominent preparatory schools within a radius of ten miles.

The requirements of application are based somewhat on those of the Rhodes Scholarship. The purpose of the award is to secure and to induce men from that vicinity to enter Swarthmore, the aim of the committee being to attract and develop all-around men, since no particular stress is given to any one line of activity.

Swarthmore Club of West Jersey

A meeting of Swarthmore graduates and ex-students living in and around Riverton and Moorestown, N. J., was held on the 31st of March, 1911, and the name agreed upon as the "Swarthmore Club of West Jersey." Its purpose is expressed in the following: "We, the subscribers, hereby form ourselves into an association under the name of the 'Swarthmore Club of West Jersey,' for the purpose of promoting the best interests of Swarthmore College. Dated this the 31st day of March, A. D., 1911."

The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society

The Scientific Society was organized in March, 1895, and later received the name of The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society of Swarthmore College. Its object is to keep abreast with the discoveries in the scientific world. There are five sciences included in the work of the association: Astronomy, Biology and Physiography, Chemistry, Engineering, and Physics. The programs of the meetings consist of a report from the instructors in each of the above departments concerning the recent discoveries in their respective sciences. Papers are then read by different members on topics of scientific interest, followed by an open discussion by the Society. The interesting character of these programs is shown by the full attendance at the meetings, from both the College and the borough.

The residents of the borough of Swarthmore are eligible to membership, as well as the students and officers of the College. The meetings are held on the second Third-day evening of alternate months during the College year.

Football

SWARTHMORE'S football record for 1912 was one of the greatest she has ever had. We opened the season by defeating Villa Nova 27-0 on our grounds. Then followed a succession of our three hardest games—Lafayette, Pennsylvania, and the Navy. The first of these we won, 22-0—the first decisive victory the Garnet has won over these old rivals in some time. In our next contest we defeated Penn, 6-3. This was from every standpoint our biggest and best game of the year. The Navy, our old strong rival, we beat 21 to 6. The next two games proved easy victories for the Garnet. Lehigh followed and gave us our only defeat, 3 to 0. It was a badly crippled up team that opposed them, and only pluck kept them down to such a low score. We defeated Bucknell 14-13, and our last contest, with Dickinson, we played a no score game. That is the story of the success which again put Swarthmore among the best college teams in the East.

The whole College greatly regrets the departure of Coach George H. Brooke. He has turned out splendid teams for the Garnet in past seasons. L. Fred Gieg, our veteran Captain for two years, has been chosen to fill the vacancy. We have a right to look forward to big things from Fred. Trainer Roth will also be back to keep the team as he has done for the past two years. "Mac" Lutz, the veteran halfback, has been chosen captain. He is a good, hard worker, and with seven regular men back and some good scrub material ought to send the Garnet forward to another successful season next fall.

THE spell has been broken. For the first time in several years we cannot point to a string of victories with its attendant claims for title honors. Victory clothed herself in a minority robe, but the Garnet was not to be denied a truly successful season. And a success we will have to call it. Not alone for joyous and important victories over Old Penn and Penn State, our biggest rivals, but also for the grit, determination and dogged perseverance displayed by an entirely new team playing together for the first time.

The Old Guard that terrorized the East had gone, and the mantle fell heavily upon Coach Yates and his green material. But neither element faltered; the men were willing to learn, and Coach Yates was able to teach them. What they lacked in experience was offset by their gameness. This enabled them to win from Penn State in the usual thrilling, hair-raising, pitched battle contest. Then came the Penn game, and who will ever forget how the boys gained for the season the unqualified stamp of approval by making it five straight?

The best part of the past season rests in the strong foundation that has been built, even at the cost of defeat—for next and following years. Only one member of the entire squad will be lost by graduation. This means Captain Mac-Kissick will have an excellent nucleus around which to build another team capable of contending for premier honors.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

THE track season of 1912 shone in spots. There were three dual meets, the State meet and the Penna. Relays. Though the team won but one of the dual meets and failed to place in the Penna. Relays, it took third place in the State meet at Harrisburg in May. Here Captain Gillam won the broad jump, Melick the quarter mile and Brown took seconds in the high and broad jumps.

It was somewhat of a surprise to romp away with the Lafayette meet and the Rutgers meet was lost only by a small margin. The team was quite outclassed at Johns Hopkins due in part to the Baltimore boys' earlier start in the season. A meet with Lehigh was scheduled, but after several futile attempts to hold it, it was called off.

Captain Lutz and Manager Delaplaine feel certain that the team that will represent Swarthmore this spring will be one of the best all-round teams in the State. But few men were lost by graduation and there is a wealth of new material

Lacrosse

THE 1912 Lacrosse season started off in a real championship fashion, six of the first seven games being victories; the other game—the one with the Navy—resulted in a tie. This winning streak was enough to land the Championship of the Southern Division for the Garnet, and in hopes of still increasing the glory by winning the championship of the United States, a special game with Harvard, the Northern Champions, was scheduled. Just then, however, the first defeat of the season, at the hands of Mt. Washington, put a damper on the enthusiasm, and as a result, on the following Saturday, after a long, tiresome trip, the team was defeated at Cambridge and so lost the title. The final game resulted in a victory for Toronto.

Although several of last year's regulars graduated, leaving many places vacant, in consideration of a wealth of new material, the prospects for the coming season are very bright. The schedule, while shorter than last year's embraces the best teams in the division, and altogether, Captain McGovern and his men should make an enviable record.

BASE-BALL

Baseball

THE balance sheet in this branch of sport holds one game against the Garnet, only eight of the seventeen games being victories. But those lost were stubbornly fought for, and in a couple of instances the narrow margin of one run separated us from victory. Two games were played with Pennsylvania, but as in former years Swarthmore was unable to stem the tide of Red and Blue wins in this line of athletics.

The team started out unusually well by winning half of the games on the annual southern trip. Considering all conditions, and especially the teams defeated, this stamped the practice journey as a distinct success. The victories over A. and M. and Catholic University, two of the strongest teams in the South, were well earned by the local team. The season was slightly marred by the loss of two prospective letter men, Gieg and Lucas. Illness on the part of the former, and an injury sustained by the latter, forced them to withdraw immediately after the southern trip.

Last year's season marked the final appearance of Claude Gilchrist in a Garnet uniform. "Gilly" most capably handled everything around third base for four consecutive years, and his loss, by virtue of his graduation, will be noticeable during the current season.

Literary Miscellany

The Rubicat of Alexander

Wake! For the bell hath shattered into flight
The lingering remnants of the peace of night,
Leave thy warm bed, pull on thine icy clothes
And buttoning them to Parrish take thy flight.

Though some there be that deem that bed be best,
I warn thee, brother, do not cling to rest,
Long in the morning, else thy choice must be
Between the pie-shop and the hunger test.

“We will have more potatoes” did’st thou say?
Nay, ’tis the warmed up ones of yesterday.
When thou hast gazed upon them hungrily
Once more the waitress beareth them away.

And now the jangling bell begins once more,
Each hungry classroom opens wide its door,
And from each one there comes the cheerful grate
Of sharpening pencils, for our rest is o’er.

The first hour endeth, and we never fail
To hurry down the stairs to get our mail,
And straightway turn around and hurry up
The self-same flight, confusion in our trail.

And then while Prexy frowns impatiently
Amid the seried ranks of faculty,
We hurry up the aisle; bang goes the door;
“Hymn No. 48,” squeaks Benny B.

Collection ends and through the open door
Each in its proper place the classes pour,
Back to our work we go, bearing the books
Which during service we were conning o’er.

Noon comes, and in the soup bescented hall
Long lines of hungry men support the wall,
Waiting for someone else to go in first,
That to his share the hated head may fall.

The evening comes. How swift the hours have fled.
It seemed a moment, yet the day is dead.
And we are that much nearer to the day
When this, our carefree college life is sped.

And ye, who in the day of which I tell
Work in this college, live beneath her spell,
We leave to you our hopes and loyalties
An heritage,—receive and keep them well.

On the Occasion of the New Hazing Rules

The good old days are past and gone,
The Freshman will no more
Blow out the lights or down a match
Upon the parlor floor.

No more he'll honk beneath the bed,
Or pale and trembling come
To dye with deeper clearer green
The emerald tinted Crum.

The paddle rests upon the wall,
The Sophomore hunts no more,
Deep peace now broods upon the scene,—
The hazing days are o'er.

Encyclopedia of College Terms

NOTE: As to the average layman many of the terms used in this book will be strange and unfamiliar, owing to their peculiar application to college life, we append here for their benefit an encyclopedia of college terms, which will make clear all such peculiar usages and idiomatic expressions. The encyclopedia has been compiled at considerable trouble and expense and with great care by a corps of experts, and it has been edited by a well-recognized authority in all such matters, who is too modest, however, to allow his name to be used. Our readers will find it reliable and authentic in every respect.

A. The Pinnacle of Achievement The Star of Hope

ALUMNUS. A valuable and necessary adjunct to every college. One who has survived the ordeal of graduation and lives for the express purpose of reflecting glory upon his Alma Mater; in return for which he is accorded the privilege of contributing money on every possible and impossible occasion, is sent invitations to all college functions, and has his name printed three times or more in the college catalogue.

ATHLETICS. A form of insanity very prevalent among college students. It takes the form of an inordinate desire to commit murder. Teams are organized for this purpose and engage in combats with other colleges. For weapons, clubs of various styles and sizes are used, and balls, which form a bone of contention. The object of all forms of athletics is to disable as many of the other side as possible. To this end various means are employed, such as knocking a man down, jumping on him, hitting him with clubs, balls, fists, etc. Many of the methods are most artistically and cleverly executed, but the teams seldom succeed in entirely killing their opponents, owing to the heavy defensive armor which is worn. A strange illusion which accompanies this form of insanity is the idea on the part of those suffering from it that they enjoy it.

BOOK ROOM. A very dangerous locality for students. Usually kept by a meek looking but very parsimonious individual who furnishes the students with the material they need at twice the value of same. The latest form of officialized burglary.

BOOK AND KEY. "Seek not to know the unknown."

CAMPUS. The lawn surrounding the college buildings upon which fussers may walk but Freshmen may not. It also forms an amusing game for the students, the object being to see into how many spaces the green may be divided by paths without destroying it altogether.

CATALOGUE. A volume of fairy tales. It is an intensely interesting and highly dramatic work of fiction produced by the faculty and setting forth their ideas of what college should be. It contains a very elaborate and imposing pedigree of the members of the faculty together with a great deal of other highly useful data, which any student of the college can recite by heart to anyone interested.

CO-ED. Bliss for the college man.

CO-EDUCATION. That which converts a college into a match factory. It is an invention of Cupid's to make college students contented with their lot. It provides them with employment, thus relieving them of the necessity of putting in their time at study; it furnishes men students a ready outlet for their money, and guarantees to many of both sexes a permanent position for life.

COLLECTION. A general meeting without definite object, which is consequently applied to a variety of uses. It gives industrious students time to prepare their day's lessons, furnishes tired professors time for a well deserved nap, allows religious fanatics a chance to expel their enthusiasm in a harmless way, gives professors over-charged with ideas a chance to get them out of their systems while students otherwise not engaged indulge in the advantages of co-education.

CREDIT. A step in the pathway to the sheepskin.

CUT. That which occurs when you feel sleepy at class time, when you want to go in town, when you have another lesson to prepare, when you feel moved to visit the pie shop, when you are just lazy, etc.

DEAN. Wearer of the official apron to whose string the young women are tied. Her principal duty consists in keeping the latter as lady-like as possible while hiding their sins from the village people.

DEBATING. A college activity akin to oratory which is designed to lower the death rate among students by preventing premature explosions on the part of those over-charged with air. Definite hours are fixed for the expelling of this noxious gas, and other members of the college are duly warned of the event by prominent placards so that they may keep out of harm's way by carefully shunning collection hall while the event is in progress.

DEGREE. A handle to the bluff of life.

DIPLOMA. A piece of sheepskin designed to fool the public into thinking the possessor a brilliant man. It is written in Latin to further the deception.

DORMITORY. The land of rough-house.

EXAMINATION. EXAM. A refined method of torturing students in a vain effort to extract knowledge from empty brains. Exam. time is the time of industry, as much as a whole year's work sometimes being done at this season in a single night.

EXEMPTION. A reward given by well-meaning, but misled professors, to those who have so far mistaken the object of college life as to spend their time on books throughout the year.

FACULTY. An imposing body of venerable seers, the quintessence of wisdom, consisting of Prexy and his satellites. Their principle function is to absorb knowledge like a sponge, then wring themselves out upon the students. Though very formidable in appearance, they are quite harmless in reality, and spend most of their time in trying to convince one another that their own department is the most important in college.

FEES. A deadly germ attacking college students particularly, at unexpected times and places, and producing a virulent disease known as deflation of the pocketbook for which no cure is known except the transfusion of money from a healthy parent. The prevalence of the pest is due to the carelessness of the authorities, who seem utterly unable to cope with the situation, as it is becoming worse every year.

FELLOWSHIP. A starvation wage to the knowledge diggers.

FRATERNITY. An organization the object of which is to produce all-round development by providing to its members an opportunity for smoking, dancing, eating, loafing, and other such highly instructive and uplifting occupations,—after relieving them of any surplus wealth they may happen to possess. Members may be distinguished by their general superiority, by their cohesive tendencies, and by the dazzling display of bejeweled splendor which is permanently located above the region of the heart.

FRESHMAN. An evergreen variety of the genus homo, found exclusively in the colleges and universities of the United States. It can be readily distinguished by a prominent large red spot upon the top of the head, marked in the center with a small green protuberance. Other distinctive characteristics are: A striking verdancy exhibited on all occasions, a profound humility of bearing in the presence of sophomores, a marked aversion for the "Pet," abstinence from fussing during the first semester, and general peculiar behavior, being often found at large in the night engaged in such antics as singing, speaking, disporting under a stream from the fire hose, etc. (See hazing.) "One who knows not but knows that he knows not."

GLEE CLUB. Pandemonium at large.

GRIND. A faculty pet. One who knows how to extract the n th root of an algebraic equation, but has forgotten the art of fussing; who knows the conjugation of a French irregular verb, but cannot tell a football from a turnip; who knows the college library by heart, but does not know his fellow students by name. See also Stude.

HARMONY. A distressing malady afflicting a large number of students. It takes the form of a heterogeneous mixture of raucous noises given in unison, and unfortunately too often in public. It affects both sexes with equally disastrous results. See Glee Club.

HAZING. A process of refinement by which kind and considerate sophomores are enabled to show their love and sympathy for raw and green freshmen by giving them a warm welcome. The idea is to give them a demonstration of college culture and make the first days of college life easy by such tender attentions as the sudden application of cold water in the night, moonlight excursions to the Crum, offering of opportunities to propose to the young women, personally conducted tours through Dante's Inferno, practice in public speaking before enthusiastic audiences, etc. The Freshman is supposed to emerge from this process (if at all) a well-rounded and perfected man, with head deflated, manners polished, a healthy respect for his elders, and other evidences of perfection which endure until he is a sophomore.

HELL. For the college student this term is synonymous with study, work, that which Swarthmore's rivals get in all athletic contests, what the Freshman gets (see Hazing,) what the faculty gives, what the meals are, etc.

HONOR SYSTEM. The latest, only original and absolute cure for cheating in examinations. Professor Progressive's pink pills preventing possible plagiarism, publicly punishing penal proceedings, positively producing perfection.

HOTTERKOLD. Colloquialism. Swarthmore's morning greeting. It is intended to convey the question as to whether the person addressed prefers to eat air, straw, shavings, peanut shells, hair mattresses, paste or glue for breakfast.

INFIRMARY. A locality for disabled football heroes, unduly tender and over-hazed freshmen, and indolent students. Here one can be at rest, enjoy perfect idleness and perfect eats by simply developing a cold or other ailment at a convenient time.

INSTRUCTOR. A faculty goat.

JUNIOR. A very superior character. One who, having emerged from the lowly depths of an under to an upper classman, proceeds to demonstrate his newly acquired ascendancy by holding class dances, publishing a year-book, assuming a supercilious air in the presence of sophomores and an air of equality in the presence of seniors, and in various other ways exhibiting to the world his exalted position. "One who knows, but knows not that he knows."

KEG RUSH. A refined demonstration of brotherly feeling between sophomores and freshmen. The affection between the two is so great that they rush into one another's embrace with great exuberance and it requires a liberal application of cold water to dampen their ardor.

KNOWLEDGE. That which the faculty say they have, and which they are supposed to be able to impart, but which the students have not, and show no great inclination to acquire.

LIBRARY. A delightful place from which there issue reams upon reams of poetry, and whither students go for one of two purposes--either to get information, or to visit some one who is supposed to be getting it. It consists of a large quantity of books so arranged that not one of them can be found when wanted, but affording beautiful nooks for social purposes.

LITERARY SOCIETY. An organization to provide students a place to hang their hats and coats in bad weather and to furnish day students a room in which to eat their lunch. The literary part consists in reading "Life" and the daily papers which are furnished members for amusement. No other form of literary work has yet been discovered to exist in them. For further information consult the Phoenix, Vol. 32, No. 8.

MONEY. —?— (Note: The editors have been unable to get hold of a piece of money long enough to give it the study necessary for careful definition. The only persons who are known to have any that we might use for this purpose are "Supe," Prexy, and Miss Baker, but they refused to let us look at it. It is probably due to this attitude on their part that they happen to have any.)

ORATORY. An exaggerated ebullition of ethereal vacuity from the pulmonary organs accompanied by much noise and full dress suits. See Debating.

PET. Colloquially, a spot in the main hall of Parrish much shunned by freshmen, but in great demand by all the other men of the college. It is placed there to enable them to exhibit their dainty feet and legs to their fair friends as well as to furnish the passing girls with hurdling exercises.

PICTURE. That for which freshmen ever strive but never attain. It is a source of great profit to photographers, of bankruptcy to the freshmen, of flunks for the sophomores, of much advice from the juniors, of great disdain by the seniors, of great annoyance to the faculty, and of general kicking by everybody.

POSTER FIGHT. An annual farce gotten off by the sophomores in a vainglorious attempt to advertise themselves by disfiguring the sacred asphaltum with placards, from which blasphemy they are generally prevented by the freshmen.

PROFESSOR. A species of human composed mostly of brain, whose head is so crammed with knowledge of one sort or another that he cannot hold it all and must, therefore, spend his time in imparting some of it to others. This process is called teaching. He is of little value to the community, and is one of the greatest obstacles to a student's successful college career. An effort has been made to suppress him by requiring almost superhuman qualities, for which he is payed enough to support a guinea pig, but in spite of these measures he still persists.

REGISTRAR. The President's bodyguard, the hardest worked man in college, the chancellor of the credit exchequer, a walking encyclopedia of collegiate information. He has the "number" of every student, every member of the faculty, the alumni, the board of managers, and of everyone in any way connected with the college. Colloquially known as "Alec," and may be distinguished by the russet hue of his bean. He has lately been endowed with the power of telling the boys what clothes to wear, how to comb their hair, etc.

ROOM-MATE. A fellow sufferer. The person who for one whole year (or more if he can stand it), puts up with your idiosyncrasies, listens patiently to all your tales of woe, pretends to appreciate all your accomplishments, overlooks your faults, and accepts the risk of living with you manfully. He is the most perverse creature on earth; he always wakes you up when you want to sleep and insists on going to bed when you want to stay up; he does his rough-housing when you are trying to study, and you raise a racket when he is seized with a sudden attack of industry; he is by turns your sworn enemy and your bosom friend, and altogether the most good-for-nothing, fine, old, genial, indispensable sort of an encumbrance that can be imagined. Also called "wife."

RUSHING. Rushing is a process resorted to by fraternities to produce a swelling in the head of a freshman. It consists of stuffing his stomach with food and his head with flattery; it is a personally conducted tour through Vanity Fair, a whirl of loud noises (see Harmony.) cats, advice, dancing, theatres, and rough-house, in return for which the recipient is later relieved of any money he may happen to possess. See Fraternity.

SEMESTER. A division of the college year, so called because it sounds dignified and imposing and looks well in the college catalogue (q. v.)

SENIOR. One who, having survived three years of telling college life, and having thus demonstrated the strength of his constitution and the effectiveness of his bluffing powers, considers it his privilege to look dignified and learned, to hold his chin a degree higher than other students, to sit in the front row at collection, to wear a cap and gown on all state occasions (the young women aren't even satisfied with this), and to believe that he owns the college. "One who knows, and knows that he knows."

SOPHOMORE. A species of student, who, having failed to succumb to the rigorous treatment accorded to freshmen, braves another year of college life, makes things warm for the new freshman, forgets all his humility, shows ten times as much freshness as the men he hazes, who creates a most uproarious racket for a full month after college opens, then settles down into insignificance for the remainder of the year. He beats the freshmen for one month, in return for which they beat him for eight more.

Page Two Thirty-six which is generally satisfactory to everybody. "One who knows not, but knows not that he knows not."

STUDE. A victim of bad preparation. Having failed to learn in prep. school the first principle of student life—viz., the art of bluffing—he resorts to the clumsy expedient of working to get his lessons. The result is that he spends his time on books instead of more genuine college activities. See Grind.

SUPERINTENDENT. One whose duty it is to keep the buildings and campus in disorder, to gather the simoleons into his fond embrace, to fine students for decorating their rooms, for indulging in such perfectly natural forms of amusement as heaving rocks through windows, etc., to pay the teachers their princely stipend, to lend money to students, etc.

THESIS. An encyclopedia of ignorance, made as formidable as possible so that the teachers will pass it without reading it.

TRACK. An ash heap arranged in the form of a circle on which insane students carry on various forms of antics with as few clothes on as possible.

VACATION. The seventh heaven of a college student's bliss. It is given for the purpose of rest, consisting of dances, theatres, parties, eating, concerts, fussing, automobiling, and other forms of repose, after which all return refreshed, invigorated, and ready for work once more.

YELL. A sound resembling a cross between the steam calliope at a circus and the musical bray of a jackass.

Y. M. C. A. A microscopic group of men, which can be observed with the aid of a magnifying glass any Sunday evening listening to an inspired address and exuding harmony (q. v.)

Y. W. C. A. The same only more so, and restricted to co-eds.

“Tempus Fugit”

“Tempus Fugit” said the sage
In the days of long ago;

“Tempus Fugit” says the co-ed,—
But it isn’t always so.

For how often in Hull’s classes
The whole hour through I’ve spent
A strict eye upon the timepiece
While the minutes fairly crept.

And when we beat Penn this winter
When one goal would tie the score
Every minute till the whistle blew
Seemed like a year or two.

But when I’m at a flashy dance
Or at some banquet huge,
And I think of “Tempus Fugit”,
I say “Don’t let her fuge.”

Total time at student's disposal 7x24		168	"
? ? ? ? ? ? - - -		—6	hrs.

In the —6 hours I owe the week, I have time to write a few business letters, get up a debate for the literary society, give advice to the freshmen, interview Prexy, hear a few political meetings, poll Swarthmore, attend a show, help a few freshmen write their English, get a haircut, bandage my room-mate's ankle, explain to Albertson what a trust is (2 hrs.), make the debate team, confer with the Dean as to that dining-room rough-house, talk to the girls in the post-office, get the rest of my meal at the pie shop, write up dope for the Phoenix, make a few political speeches, indite an ode for the Halcyon, attend glee club practice, learn to smoke, rough-house in the hall, get a drag with Louie, take that Sunday walk, read thirty or forty novels for Brooks and a few more for myself, attend the college dances for Cook's sake, commune with Nature, and incidentally get some of that "inspiring rest" the Dean so loves to talk about.

Perplexed Student.

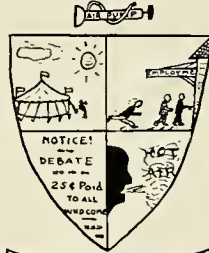

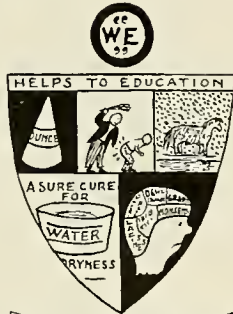

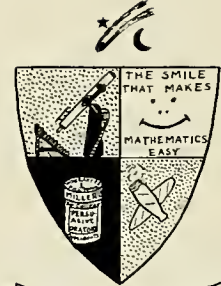

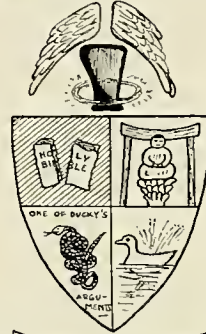

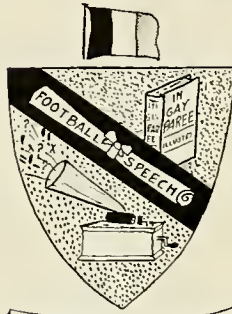

The Four Ages

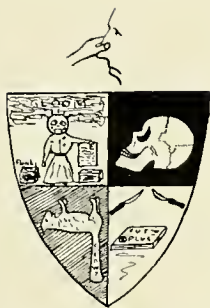

The campus is our stage,
And all the boys and co'eds merely players,
And each one in his time plays several parts,
His acts four ages; first of all the Fresh,
Singing or jiggling, never near the "pet",—
'Tis he who sports a bright and crimson cap
With emerald button,—cheerfully he plays.
The gaudy Soph then comes upon the stage
With peacock strut and hose of brilliant hue,—
He laughs to see the Freshman play his part,
Forgetting that he too such entrance made

Upon the scene. The third age shifts
Into the wise and stately Junior ways
With knowledge gained from play as well as books,
Experience acting always as his guide
And leading him aright. Last scene of all
That ends this strange eventful history,—
The Senior's act, the saddest of them all;—
'Tis then with cap and gown one bids farewell
To classrooms, classmates, profs, and dearest friends,
And marches out into the cold, wide world
Sans dough, sans job, sans Her, sans everything.

Departments and Courses of Instruction

English.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of a corps of stupendous, if somewhat eccentric, intellects.) An aim is made to keep students from getting on too close speaking terms with the English language. Believing that a high standard should be maintained at all times, more especially since this is the most important department of Worthmore College, students are warned that no mark higher than C will be awarded except to the most overgrown intellects. Courses are offered in all stages of decomposition and illiterature. Majors are required to pursue Miss Bore 'Em's advanced course in Washington society three hours per week, and to take at least one course under a trying Pace. Dr. Plodder's course in Yankee ohjocularity is open to advanced students.

French, Italian and Spanish.

(The courses in this department are conducted mainly in Polyglot, and are conducted along the most approved eccentric lines.) The courses are established mainly for men students, but young women will be tolerated if they report to classes promptly, and speak "a haut voix" at all times in the class room. Dr. Belledonna offers annually a course in college management which is required of all French students. Mr. Goslow offers a number of courses in aggressive French, and foreign somnabulism. The courses of study are designed to afford a high degree of literary agriculture, and a number of the world's masterpieces will be plowed through.

Page Two Forty-six

German Language and Literature.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Betchuken Bat 'Em.) The courses of study in this department are designed to bring the student in touch with the character and genius of Wienerwurst and Sauerkraut, and to this end the works of such expert dieticians as Goethe and Schiller are thoroughly digested. "Social Rules and Regulations," by Hardflint is used as a text book in the more advanced courses. Major students are expected to imitate their professors in being thoroughly Teutonic, and are required to take Assistant Professor Goodsport's course in Hysteria Minutiae. The only language used in the class room is Germanycuss.

Greek and Latin.

The aim of this department is to give the student as little practical benefit as possible. To this end extensive courses are offered in Defunctology, old Greek Complications and Bygone Memories. A critical study of the Roman corpse is made and the student is thoroughly greased for this work. Major students must possess Spartan courage and no one will be enrolled in classes under Dr. East until he has acquired a growth of cobwebs in his cerebrum.

History and International Complications.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction and sole charge of Dr. Shell.) The courses are conducted by means of class room lullabys and library shirk, which are co-ordinated by the students by means of letters written in class and animated retorts. Morpheus' "The Decline and Fall of Class Entire," is used as a reference work in a number of classes. The purpose of the department is to afford discriminating use in the selection of sure-credit subjects; to cultivate the diabolical habit of mind; and to restrain a knowledge of History, as a whole. Especial stress is laid on diplomacy and courtesy. Ten courses are offered, of which several are sometimes accepted.

Political Nonsense.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Writesizown Book.)

The fundamental aim of the courses offered in political nonsense is to prepare students for intelligent and effective graft. To this end an effort is made to get at the methods of the most clever politicians in Cincinnati. Students can profit greatly by following the splendid example of their professor along these lines. While intelligent and effective citizenship is thus the primary aim of the courses in political nonsense, they should also prove more immediately helpful for those who intend to enter college politics, secure a scholarship, or other like activity. Unsupported by a knowledge of most of the other things in the universe, much of the significance of political nonsense will be lost. Professor Book knows all these things and then some, and he expects his students to be similarly informed. The professor's own work, "Nothing New About Corruption," will be bought and treasured by all majors in this department.

Uneconomics.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Assistant Professor Goingsome. Dr. Shock Stuzenz was acting instructor.)

Citizenship implies ignorance of government. The broadest purpose of college instruction in uneconomics is to contribute to the former by cultivation of the latter. To this end the subject is made as complicated as possible, and hence should appeal to all who are not students. The work of the department is largely supplemented by original dissertations on the evils of this world, awe-inspiring diagrams of labyrinthine structure, and humorous comment upon all subjects. Text-books used in the various courses are: Bughouse's "The Joys of Taxation," Fossil's "Popular Treatise on the Economic Interpretation of Existing Forms of Misgovernment," Harebrane's "Startling Ideas Concerning the Fisc and Treasury Management," etc. Major students are required to agree with all schemes presented and to be able to see a joke readily.

History of Religion and Philosophy.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Makesno Bones.)

The object of the courses in this department is to upset any religious ideas that a student may happen to have. In order that this may be effectually accomplished, all students are required to take one half year in the dissection of the Bible. This should be quite sufficient, but for those who have the hardihood to persevere in this work advanced courses are offered in the higher irreligion, philosophical prestidigitation, epicycloidal ethical argument, and other brain disturbers. The department is equipped with a valuable collection of idols, charms, fetiches, etc., representing all forms of worship in order that the students may make practical application of the forms of religion studied.

Department of Psychology and Education.

(The instruction of this department is under the direction of Professor Baldbird.) In order that his duties may not become too arduous, most of the courses in the department are shifted to the other members of the faculty. The aims of the department are too extensive to be enumerated here, but it may be briefly stated that they include everything in any way disconnected with the subject. Courses are offered in malpractice, teaching, experimental teaching—vivisection of students in nearby schools forming the basis for this work, co-education and other irrelevant subjects. For further information the student is advised to confer personally with Dr. Baldbird, who will outline comprehensive plans with a wealth of detail gathered through long experience in normal school and college air castle construction.

Bugology.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Fast Trotter.)

Page Two Forty-eight

The courses in bugology are designed to give a broad and liberal view of the facts of life by depicting the development of our ancestors. The relation of the student with his remote past is constantly kept before him, and a special study is made of those who exhibit marked evidence of their former state. Students making bugology their major will be required to harden themselves to bad odors. For those who intend to take up medicine, special practice in the killing of specimens is afforded. For advanced students "stiff" courses are offered, and among others open to majors are laboratory fussing, collection courses on hereditary limitations, seminar in scientific expression of thoughts, (open to men students only, etc.)

For those troubled with insomnia, Dr. Calmer offers a course in bird gazing, which meets at 4 A. M.

Chemistry.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Ownzthia Kollidge. Miss Green Goodz and Art Fusser are Instructors.)

This department does not aim to do anything special, but presents opportunities for extensive messing. The successful completion of the courses in Chemistry will enable the student to defy the faculty, dodge student government and compete with the president of any university. Majors are required to take three hours in eccentric ideas and one advanced course in "Suppression of Fool Questions." All laboratory courses will entail the separation from the student of six hard-earned bones

Mechanical and Uncivil Engineering.

(The instruction in this department is under the care of a capable professor who is a blessing to the college.)

The courses are designed to train men in the branch they select and not much else. Major students will be expected to do more work than in any other department and must take courses in acquirement of grease and dirt, boning on diabolics of mathematics, hot air, gas and other engines for producing vacuous words. The equipment, the abstruseness of the courses, and bias of the men in this department are some class.

Mathematics and Astronomy.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Fakultee Passifyer. Mr. Likztha Gurls and Samuel Stargazer are assistants.)

The course in Mathematics is designed to give the students having more intellect than they know what to do with an opportunity to waste a little of it without damage to anyone on the delightful intricacies of infinite calculations. For students wanting more elementary work, courses are offered in solid equations, analytic quadratic calculus, measurement of infinity, etc. More advanced courses are offered in student management, starlight flirtation and lunacy. Students of astronomy are expected to be able to incline their heads backward at an angle of ninety degrees with ease. Four years mathematics qualify the student for the degree of "Adept at Insanity."

Physics and Electrical Engineering.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor Assistant Prexy. Dr. Hustle Bustle is Assistant.)

The aim of the courses offered is to enable students to obtain their science credits with a minimum of effort. To this end the student is not expected to study, but knowledge is imparted to him by the most improved mechanical devices. Major students are obliged to pay $50 laboratory fees and to take the following courses: Shocking course in electricity. Photography (only an equal number of both sexes will be admitted to this course as it is advisable to work in pairs.)

Public Speaking.

(The instruction in this department is under the direction of Professor P.M.P. Strengus. As the professor's outside activities take up most of his time, most of his college work will be done by his assistants.)

The aim of the department is to enable students who have nothing to say, to say it as gracefully as possible. Numerous contests held throughout the year enable the student to become hardened to speaking before empty houses, thus putting them in line for Congress. Prizes are offered to those getting up the most enthusiasm under such circumstances. Numerous one and two hour one-semester courses are offered for the benefit of those wishing to arrange conflicts with other subjects. Major students wishing to interview the professor will be permitted to do so only if they can catch him. The Chautauqua course is the most popular offered by the department.

The Board-Walk

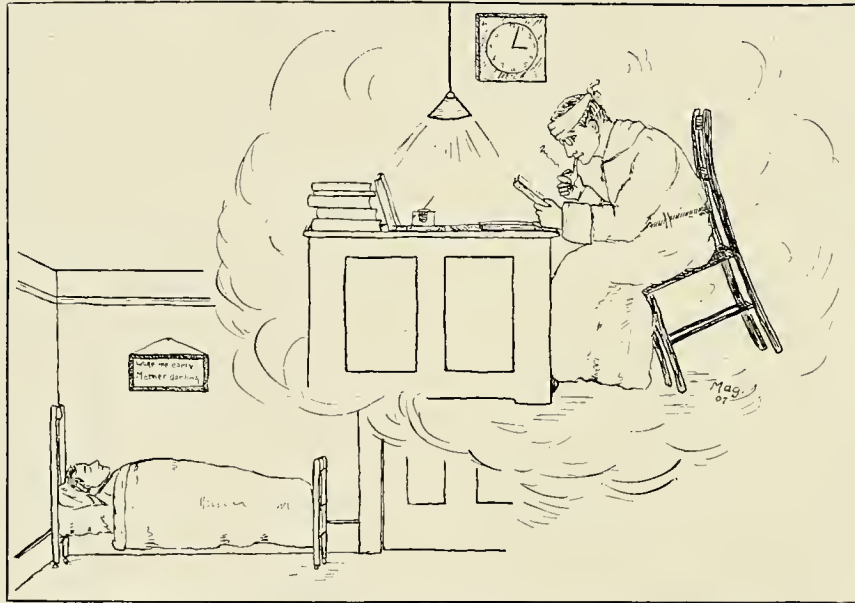

The sleepy summer through I lie
Silent and dreaming in the heat,
But when the autumn days draw nigh
Once more I echo to the feet
That, light or heavy, fast or slow,
All day are passing to and fro.

I'm rather slippery in the snow
And slipprier in the rain of spring,
But then the fellows sliding go
And underneath their feet I sing
Hurrah! instead of thump, thurp, thump,
So often ending in a bump.

And often, the vacation spent,
In working or in wandering,
Wrapped in bath robes and deep content
They sit and listen to me sing,
And blow a cloud of smoke and then
"Great, ain't it, to be back again."

LEWIS F. MELL, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

February 19 1918

Mr. James Monaghan 2nd.,
Swarthmore College.

Esteemed Friend;-

The Librarian informs me that you have been "spoken to twice for whispering in the Library."

In accordance with our regulations and with the statement made in collection recently you are debarred from the use of the library for two weeks from this date.

Sincerely yours,

Geo. A. Hodder
Chairman Library Committee.

The Biology Major

I will arise and go now, and major under Trotter;
His heart is always open, and he has a place for me;
I've tried the others, all of them.—Brooks, Battin, Goddard, Potter,
And it's yonder in the museum is the place where I would be.
And I shall gain much wisdom; Aye, many kinds of knowledge,
That deal not with dentition, or that the bone that we have met
For he'll lecture from the store of things he didn't learn at college,
And if you've heart or toothache, he'll cure you of it yet.
I will arise and go now, for eagerness is on me
To listen to his lectures. Oh what joy 'twill give my heart
To hear his soft voice calling, as he strides from out the office
"Sam, Sam, say, where the Devil did I leave that weather chart?"

Dil on the Troubled Water

Blessed are the poor in health, for they shall be excused from athletics.

Blessed are they that get up in the morn, for they shall be comforted with fried potatoes.

Blessed are the meek, for theirs is the kingdom of Student Exec.

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after knowledge, for great will be their reward in A's.

Blessed are the merciful, for they shall be loved by the Fresh.

Blessed are the tender in heart, for theirs is the drag with the fair co-eds.

Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be loved of William Isaac.

Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for they shall preserve us from the criticism of the village people.

Blessed are ye when the faculty committee revile ye, and cut all manner of stuff against ye sharply for the sake of a peplless Halcyon;—rejoice ye therefore and be exceeding glad, for even so will they persecute 1915's Halcyon after you.

Select Your Roses From This New Book Write a Postal To-day for a FREE Copy

Herein are listed and accurately described the 360 Best Roses for America. 35 are illustrated by photographs. 11 leaders are shown in natural colors. Best varieties for every climate, to beautify gardens, arbors, beds, pergolas, trellises, etc. Selected by America's foremost rose propagator, who is with us, and whose half-century of experience is at the service of Conard & Jones patrons.

This free book also contains full information on how to select, plant, prune and grow roses; a complete Rose Lover's Calendar; and a liberal FREE DELIVERY OFFER. It is a book every rose lover should have at hand

Conard & Jones Roses

Guaranteed to Bloom

America's Star Roses. Rose growing with us is a science. Our soil, climate, care and long experience vie with each other in producing vigorous, healthy, symmetrical bushes bearing perfect blooms, highly perfumed. Every bush is grown on its own roots, is true to name and species, and is positively guaranteed to grow and bloom, or it will be replaced. Our long years of rose culture have acquainted us with the best varieties for each climate, and we will gladly aid you in selecting.

Jonkheer J. L. Mock Rose

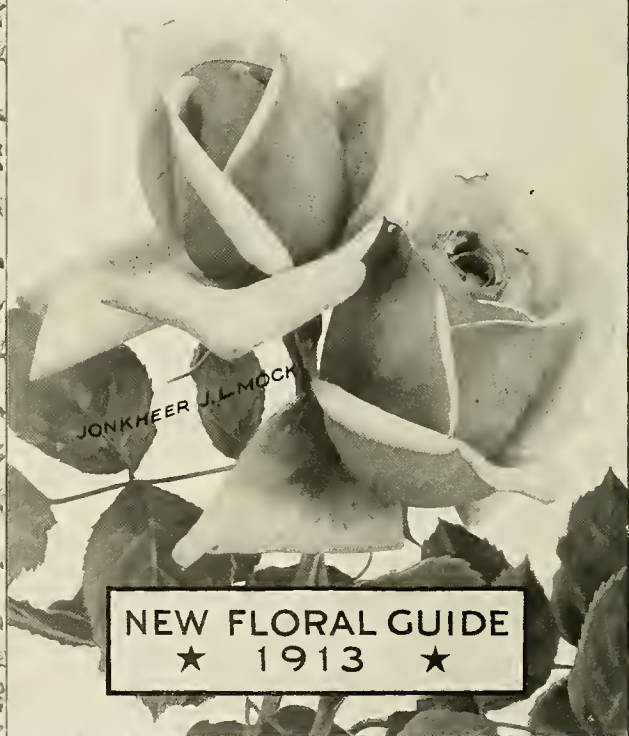

This magnificent rose of brilliant carmine, shading to imperial pink, was awarded First Prize at the International Rose Exhibition, held in Paris during June, 1911. It is one of our recent importations and is shown opposite. At this Exhibition our president, Mr. Robert Pyle, was the sole American member of the Jury of Award. This honor indicates the international prominence attained by The Conard & Jones Co.

The Jonkheer J. L. Mock Rose is shown in all its beautiful coloring on the cover of our 1913 Rose Book. By all means write for your FREE COPY to-day. It is high time to begin selection for Spring planting.
